HENEY'S AFFIDAVIT DEFAMATORY AND SCANDALOUS, HE SAYS

Attorney Ach Declares It Defames the Governor and the Attorney-General.

to attend. For similar reasons, Ach said he had not been able to meet with Rabbi Nieto.

Biggy Material Witness.

He then filed an affidavit which appears in another part of this issue of THE TRIBUNE, as the basis for a motion. The document, among other things, sets forth that W. J. Biggy was a material witness in the case and that he desired to have both Biggy and Judge Dunne, Henry, Langdon, Bunnell, Spreckels and McCarthy to be examined on the stand touching statements to the defendant by Biggy and Dunne and others as also Kaplan and Nieto.

Ach, at the close of the reading, moved for permission to cross-examine orally in court the witnesses who had thus far made affidavits and those who had not thus far filed affidavits, among the latter ex-supervisors A. M. Wilson, J. J. Gallagher, Judge Frank H. Dunne, W. J. Biggy and Judge W. P. Lawlor.

Henny Is Defiant.

Henny said that Biggy stood ready to make an affidavit as soon as Attorney Cobb could take the matter up with him which would probably be sometime today. As to Judge Dunne, Henny declared that that official had declined to make an affidavit for counsel for the defendant and that he would probably make a similar declaration with respect to the prosecution Judge Dunne, however, had expressed his willingness to make an affidavit if he was so requested by Judge Lawlor.

Henny further stated that Foreman Oliver of the grand jury had made an affidavit of his own volition but that Oliver had been obliged to leave for Treka before swearing to it. Henny then referred to the accusation that Wilson and Gallagher had refused Ach to make affidavits, but pointed out that, according to Ruef's affidavit all that Wilson and Gallagher said was that they would "see about it." Henny contended that that did not show that those men had refused to make an affidavit. He had telephoned to Gallagher and Wilson regarding the affidavits and he was under the impression that they had been told by Burns that they would make affidavits.

Ach Grows Angry.

Henny said that Ach's affidavit had not been filed yet. The defense wanted to see what every other person was going to show before they undertook anything. Instead of a criminal being put on trial, he wanted to put the district attorney and the court and every person else on trial except the defendant himself.

Ach took exception to the language of Henny referring to the defendant as a criminal. He said they would prove Ruef's innocence if they were permitted to examine on the stand the men who are conducting the graft prosecution.

"You will be on trial before I am."

A RELIABLE SPRING MEDICINE

Recommended to the People of Oakland

At this season of the year there is hardly a man, woman or child in Oakland who does not need a medicine to purify and enrich the blood, to induce an appetite, to promote digestion and create strength and we are safe in saying we have never sold anything in our store equal to the cod liver preparation Vinol for this purpose.

The reason Vinol is so far superior to old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions is because it is made by a scientific, exhaustive and concentrating process from fresh cods' livers, combining with peptonate of iron, all the medicinal, healing and body building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil.

As a spring medicine and body builder and strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, and after sickness Vinol is unexcelled, and you know what you are taking.

Mrs. Ross Lavigne of Burlington, Vt. writes: "Vinol is the best spring medicine I have ever used; it creates an appetite, purifies the blood and takes away all feeling of lassitude."

We could go on quoting from hundreds of such letters, but simply ask the people of Oakland to try Vinol this spring on our guarantee to return money if they are not benefited.—The Owl Drug Co., Oakland, Cal.

HENEY RECEIVED FOREMAN OF GRAND JURY, DECLARES RUEF IN AFFIDAVIT

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16—

The following affidavit showing among other things that Henny received Foreman Oliver of the Grand Jury regarding the immunity contract granted Ruef, was filed today in Judge Lawlor's court.

"In the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the City and County of San Francisco. People of the State of California, vs. Patrick Calhoun et al., State ss. of California, City and County of San Francisco.

"Abraham Ruef being first duly sworn on oath, deposes and says: That he is one of the defendants above named, that upon the motion and objection now pending, W. J. Biggy is an essential and important witness, that W. J. Biggy was present at some of the conversations had by this affidavit with Francis J. Henny, W. J. Burns and by this affidavit with Rabbi Nieto and Rabbi Kaplan and W. J. Burns, that the said W. J. Biggy is a material witness and can give material testimony of and concerning said conversations and other facts involved in the controversy now pending upon the motions and objections now pending; and among other things said W. J. Biggy can testify concerning the agreement of immunity and that to his knowledge it was agreed between the prosecution and it was represented to this affidavit that said plea of guilty in indictment 305 should be withdrawn, and that this affidavit should not be put in evidence, that said W. J. Biggy could give positive evidence as to other matters and things material on the present hearing, that this affidavit, through his attorney, Henry Ach, applied to said W. J. Biggy for an affidavit stating material and other facts within his knowledge and that said W. J. Biggy did refuse; and ever since has refused to make any affidavit of any kind.

"Evidence Material. "Affiant further states that he does not desire to submit his motion and objection without the evidence of said Biggy, and is advised by his counsel that said evidence is material and necessary, and that no affidavit of said W. J. Biggy is on file in this cause; this affidavit further states that he has applied to Hon. Frank H. Dunne, Judge of Department Number 8, by and through his attorney, Frank J. Murphy, for an affidavit, and this affidavit further states that the said Dunne refused to make an affidavit in this cause; that said Frank H. Dunne is possessed of a knowledge of facts which are material to this affidavit upon the hearing of his objections and his motions, that said Frank H. Dunne is a personal enemy of the affiant, is a personal enemy of Frank J. Murphy, one of affiant's counsel, and that Henry Ach, another of affiant's counsel, will not speak to said Hon. Frank H. Dunne; that M. C. Chapman, as counsel for affiant, is not acquainted with said Dunne; that affiant believes and states the fact to be that the evidence of affiant and said Hon. Frank H. Dunne will contradict many of the statements made by Frank J. Henny, William H. Langdon, Rudolph Spreckels and W. J. Burns, contained in their respective affidavits here, and that the same will corroborate the statements of the Rev. Dr. Kaplan and the Rev. Dr. Nieto, contained in their respective affidavits herein, and upon matters material to the determination of the matters now pending before this court.

"Charges Conspiracy. "That by the evidence of said Hon. Frank H. Dunne and said W. J. Biggy this affiant expects to prove the conspiracy between the said Dunne, said Langdon, said Henny and the said Burns, to use the process of this court, and to use this court for their own ulterior purposes and to defeat the ends of justice; and that the said conspiracy was formed by the said parties for the purpose of causing this affidavit to be put in evidence in this cause, and to cause this affidavit to be put in evidence in the Grand Jury and to cause return of indictment 305 and to cause the same to be signed to Department 11 of this court and to enter into a contract of immunity with this affiant and to thereafter break the same upon the pretense that this affiant did not keep the same, when pretense was and false; and affiant further states that he expects to prove by said witnesses the said conspiracy was acted upon by the said parties, and expects so to prove by the evidence of said Frank H. Dunne and to some extent by the evidence of said W. J. Biggy.

"Affiant further states that his attorney, Mr. Ach, did apply to Bartley P. Oliver, formerly foreman of the Grand Jury of this city and county of San Francisco, and the foreman of the Grand Jury which returned indictment number 310 and to 323, both inclusive, and did ask said Oliver for an affidavit to the effect that this affidavit was taken before the Grand Jury upon a number of occasions between the 17th day of May, 1907, and December 31st, 1907, and that affiant was so taken before Grand Jury; that affiant's said attorney asked said Oliver whether said affiant did testify apparently without reserve before the Grand Jury, and that said Oliver did state that said affiant's attorney asked said Oliver whether he was aware of the existence of an immunity contract in the months of September and October, 1907, when said affiant appeared before said Grand Jury and in the month of May, 1907, when affiant appeared before said Grand Jury and testified, to which the said Oliver did reply in the negative and did state that on the contrary the Grand Jury were lead to believe by the District Attorney and the Assistant District Attorney Henny that no contract of immunity of any kind was made with said affiant; that said Bartley P. Oliver did refuse to make any affidavit in the matter and his testimony as to said facts is material to the matter now on hearing before this court.

"Oliver and Henny. "This affidavit further states that he is advised and believes, and upon his information and belief alleges that the said Bartley P. Oliver did inquire of Assistant District Attorney Henny whether he should make an affidavit in the request of the defendant in this case; and further states upon his information and belief that said Oliver was advised by said Henny not to do so.

"Affiant further states that the testimony and evidence of the said W. J. Biggy and the said Hon. Frank H. Dunne, and the said Hon. Bartley P. Oliver is material and necessary to this affidavit in the matters now on hearing before this court in the above entitled matter.

"Affiant further states that relative to the conspiracy hereinbefore referred to, he believes that by an examination of the Hon. W. P. Lawlor in court, by counsel for affiant on behalf of this affiant, he can prove many material facts and circumstances which will tend to establish the said conspiracy, and that this affiant has applied to said Hon. W. P. Lawlor for an affidavit, but that no affidavit has yet been filed by said Hon. W. P. Lawlor; that this affidavit does not desire to disclose to his adversaries by affidavit the particular circumstances to which this affiant alludes, that by so doing he might thwart the very purpose of the examination.

"What He Believes. "Affiant further states that he believes, and he is advised by his counsel learned in the law, that it is proper and essential to the ends of justice, and in order to establish this affiant's rights in the matters now on hearing before this court, that this affiant should have an opportunity to cross-examine Francis J. Henny, W. J. Burns, Rudolph Spreckels, W. H. Langdon, George W. Bunnell and J. F. McCarthy concerning some of the material evidence by them given by affidavit in this matter, and he believes that he can by such cross-examination demonstrate to the court that many of the material statements contained in the affidavits of said persons, and in each and all of them, are untrue, and are known to be untrue by the said respective persons; and further, this affiant can by cross-examination of said persons in open court demonstrate to the court the truth of the statements contained, and in the affidavits of the Reverend Drs.

Nieto and Kaplan, and particularly that this affiant was promised full and complete immunity, that he was not to be punished at all, and that the plea of guilty in case No 308 was to be withdrawn, and further that affiant has acted in good faith at all times, and that in the matter of said contract, Henny, Burns and Langdon have so expressed themselves to others, and can also be cross-examination of said witnesses satisfy the court that the said testimony of said Henny and the said Burns, as in said affidavits contained, is of little or no weight, and that this affidavit can by a cross-examination of said Henny, Langdon and Burns, and also of said Spreckels, Bunnell and McCarthy, thoroughly and quickly impeach the said six last named witnesses, and each and all of them.

All Unwilling.

"Affiant further says that each and all of said persons named, to wit, Frank J. Henny, William H. Langdon, W. J. Biggy, Rudolph Spreckels, Hon. Frank H. Dunne and W. J. Burns have each and all of them been subpoenaed to appear and testify in this court and cause on the matter now on hearing, and that each and all of said persons are unwilling to take the stand in open court to so testify for this affiant.

"Affiant further says that by and through his attorney, Mr. Henry Ach, he made application to James L. Gallagher and Andrew M. Wilson for their respective affidavits to be used in the matter now pending before this court and upon essential and material facts, and that said persons and each and both of them have refused to make any affidavit, but stated to affiant's attorney that they would see about it; and affiant is informed and believes and states the fact to be that they did report to Francis J. Henny or William J. Burns that said application had been made to them for said affidavits, and did request of said Burns and Henny their depositions further states that he is informed and believes, and therefore states the fact to be that said Henny or said Burns, or both of them, did instruct said Gallagher and said Wilson not to make any affidavit for this affiant; affiant further states that said parties are ex-supervisors of the city and county of San Francisco; that said Andrew M. Wilson is under indictment for bribery; that said Gallagher and the said Wilson both hold immunity contracts from the said Henny and the said Burns against punishment for any and every alleged crime alleged to have been committed by him or either of them, and further alleges and states that the said Gallagher and the said Wilson are under the complete influence of William H. Langdon, W. J. Burns and Francis J. Henny.

To Prove Conspiracy.

"That if affiant or his attorneys are permitted to examine said Gallagher and said Wilson in court, affiant could elicit from the said persons, as witnesses, many material facts which would corroborate many of the material statements contained in the affidavits of this affiant on file herein, and would contradict many material statements contained in the affidavits of Henny, Spreckels and Burns, and the evidence of the said Gallagher and said Wilson. If this affiant be permitted to take the same in open court, would tend same to prove the conspiracy hereinbefore alleged, and affiant could also obtain evidence from said persons which would establish many material facts in the matters now pending before this court and on hearing, which are not otherwise obtainable; that said Gallagher and said Wilson have been subpoenaed to appear as witnesses for and on behalf of this defendant in this matter now on hearing in this court; that as to the affidavits of said Gallagher and said Wilson, said affiant, and their refusals to give the same, and to make the same, this affiant is informed by his said counsel, Mr. Henry Ach, that he has made said applications and had received said refusals.

RAILROAD STRIKE INVOLVES 1500 WORKERS

Men Go Out This Morning Because Company Abrogated All Contracts.

DENVER, Colo., March 15.—At 10 o'clock today 1500 machinists, boiler-makers and members of kindred trades, working in the Denver & Rio Grande shops went on strike in response to an order issued by W. J. McQueeney, representing the machinists' national organization after a final conference at which Manager A. C. Ridgeway of the railroad refused any concessions.

The strike will ultimately spread to every road in the Gould system and affect roads all over the United States, said McQueeney. "There is every indication that the struggle will be a long one and fought hard on both sides."

The strike is the result of an order given by the road a month ago abrogating all contracts with the unions. Since that time numerous conferences have been held between the men and the company, but it was impossible to reach an agreement.

ARRAIGNMENT OF MRS. MARTIN POSTPONED

Judge Wells of Martinez Unable to Reach Oakland Until Very Late.

Mrs. Isabella J. Martin will be arraigned this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock for dynamiting the home of Judge Ogden. She has retained Attorney A. L. Erick to represent her. Judge Wells of Contra Costa county will preside at the arraignment, when Mrs. Martin will be asked to plead guilty or not guilty to the charge.

The arraignment was to have taken place earlier in the day, but a dispatch was received from Judge Wells at Martinez saying that it would be impossible for him to reach Oakland until late this afternoon because of the business of his own court. Unless a continuance is asked for by Mrs. Martin, the date of her trial will be set today.

Mrs. Martin has already quarreled with the three negroes who are her cellmates. Yesterday she said to one of them: "Cook me these eggs."

"Yes, if you'll give me one of them," was the reply. Eggs are not furnished by Sheriff Ogden to his prisoners, and must be bought by prisoners. Consequently they are a luxury at the county jail.

Mrs. Martin gets up at about 2 a. m. in the morning and passes her cell, which is another thing her cellmates object to. Every night she goes to bed about 9 o'clock and sleeps soundly until about 2. Then she lights a cigar and gets out of bed. The negroes do not retire until nearly midnight. They chat until they fall asleep.

Last night Mrs. Martin could not get to sleep as early as usual. She attributed this to the conversation that was going on around her, and asked her cellmates to be still.

"You never think about us," was the reply. "When you get up at night and smoke that punk cigar of yours."

District Attorney Brown still insists on the enforcement of his order that no one must be allowed to visit her with the exception of her attorney. Erick was closeted with her for several hours last Saturday afternoon, and visited her later with her son, Henry Hoffman. Both refused to make public the purpose of the latter's visit.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 16. — By the vote of 3 to 2 the sub-committee of the Senate committee on the judiciary today declared unconstitutional all of the bills intended to remove federal barriers against States exercising control of their police powers for the regulation of the liquor traffic. Hearings on these measures have been held covering almost the entire present session and the bills were advocated by representatives of practically all of the States where there is a strong prohibition sentiment. The members of the sub-committee are Senators Knox, Nelson, Fulton, Bacon and Rayner.

New York Delegation Engages

DES MOINES, Iowa, March 16.—A letter from the Hughes campaign league of New York city was received by the Savoy Hotel management yesterday and a telegram is expected today making definite reservation of apartments during the State convention this week, and which will be held by representatives of Governor Hughes in an effort to prevent instruction for Secretary Taft. Friends of Taft are confident that the convention will accept strong instructions for their candidate, believing that without regard to faction lines a proposition to instruct would have a large majority.

Winfrey married Miss Celeste Marr of St. Helena in December last, deserting her in San Francisco. Mrs. Winfrey No. 1, whom he had wedded in Denver, Colo., only ten days before Miss Marr, also has commenced an action to have her marriage annulled. Winfrey was arrested in Oakland.

Trains Collide In a Dense Fog

LOS ANGELES, March 16. — In a dense fog this morning a Southern Pacific passenger train collided with a freight engine three miles west of Covina. The engineer and fireman of the freight had uncoupled and ran ahead to flag the passenger but were too late to give the warning.

The engineer and fireman of the passenger jumped. Although one of the passenger coaches telescoped, none of the passengers was injured.

WAITER IS ACCUSED OF STABBING ANOTHER

Charles York, a waiter, is under arrest at the city prison on a charge of stabbing John Engman, another waiter, in the arm with a pocket knife at Ninth and Washington streets last night. Engman was but slightly injured. York and his victim visited the Cooks and Waiters' Club on Tenth street last night, but York was thrown out of the place. He considered that Engman was to blame and when he met him later, he is accused of jabbing the knife in Engman's arm.

BUT FOUR AMERICANS SEE GREAT FLEET ENTER BAY

Warships Formally Welcomed by Mexico

MAGDALENA BAY, Lower California, March 12 (By U. S. cruiser Buffalo, San Diego, March 16).—The battleship fleet appeared upon the southern horizon of Magdalena Bay at daybreak this morning, but only the leading ships could be seen until the rising sun had driven away the mist of fog which had hung over the bay since the evening before. Magdalena Bay has not grown so large in population as the advance reports indicated and the entire population which turned out to impress the impressive array of the sixteen ships through the gateway numbered only 140 persons, of whom only four were Americans. The only vessels to greet the fleet were the Buffalo, the naval tug Fortuna and three colliers.

From the entrance of the bay to where the little town of Magdalena, with its score of whitewashed houses nestles in the hills, was a run of eight miles, but the "full speed" signals flying from the fore truck of the flagship were not lowered until the very anchorage grounds in Man-o'-War Cove were reached. It was not until 8 o'clock that the Buffalo saluted Admiral Evans' flag, salutes being barred by the navy regulations before that hour of the morning.

The personnel of the fleet is in the highest state of efficiency. Training of the gun crews and the other divisions of the forces has been persistent from the very start of the cruise. The preparedness of the vessels was demonstrated when within an hour after anchorage the Kansas, Kentucky and Vermont were cruising about the target range concluding the preparations for practice work at the guns, which begins tomorrow with preliminary firing.

For Fight or Frolic.

Speaking of the cruise, Admiral Evans said: "I do not care to express my personal opinion of the progress of the fleet. You may say anything you want to, but I have no opinion about the cruise. It is unnecessary. The facts speak for themselves. I was ordered to bring the fleet to Magdalena Bay for target practice."

3 Flying Dances, 97 (A. Walsh)..... 25-1
let them come and see. We are ready at a moment's notice to begin shooting at the targets, go out to sea and fight a battle or keep on with the cruise."

Governor Sangre's of the southern division of Lower California was here with his staff to greet the fleet. Admiral Thomas put out in a launch from the Minnesota to call upon the governor as the representative of Admiral Evans.

Governor Sangre announced that he was the official representative of President Diaz of Mexico and as such he extended a most cordial greeting to the American fleet.

Returns Call.

In the afternoon Governor Sangre returned Admiral Thomas' call, being received on board the Minnesota with martial honors. The governor's party was entertained in the admiral's cabin and the sociabilities Presidents Roosevelt and Diaz were heartily toasted. Upon the departure of Governor Sangre, the Mexican flag was broken out at the foretruck of the Minnesota and a salute of seventeen guns was fired in his honor.

The admiral's health is greatly improved. He was sitting in an arm chair on the after bridge of the Connecticut when interviewed. "I am improving now when I leave the ship soon. I have not been able to go ashore and have a good time with the boys during the trip around South America, but when I get to California I am going ashore with the rest of them. We want to do twice as much for California as we have done for any one else. We shall all be glad to get back to the United States."

Pleased With Trip.

Rear Admiral Thomas said: "This cruise eclipsed by far anything ever before attempted in the American navy and the beneficial results are greater than we ever before have accomplished. The ships are in better condition than when we left Hampton Roads. We were ready for battle the moment we reached Magdalena Bay. What more could any cruise demonstrate?" On the last leg of the voyage they were actually making more miles per ton of coal than when we started. This was due to the increased efficiency of the engineering forces in driving the boilers."

And their doom appears to be clinched by the fact that the attendants long ago christened them "A. Mutt" and "B. Mutt." Added to this is the portentous fact that both guinea pigs inhabit cage No. 43 in the laboratory.

As the period of incubation, or time between inoculation and the manifestation of sickness from plague, is from 3 to 8 days, it may be some time before the fate of "A. Mutt" and "B. Mutt" is determined.

If it develops that these two germ cultures were really from bubonic plague, it will be "30" for the Mutt family of Rosentville, and there will be several horrors on the rats, so to speak.

The attendants at the board of health laboratory think that they have marked several large, fierce "Indian signs" of superstition on two unfortunate guinea pigs.

It appears that Dr. Long is investigating two alleged cases of suspected bubonic plague in human beings who died recently.

In order to determine whether they really died of pestilence or not, Dr. Long inoculated the two guinea pigs with serum taken from the spleen, lungs and glands at each post mortem.

In spite of the possible seriousness which may attach to these two cases, they are surrounded with certain humorous circumstances.

The two guinea pigs may find "Friday," the thirteenth, an unlucky day, for they both were inoculated last Friday.

STUDENT TO SHOW VACCINATION SCAR

University Doctor Believes He Was Inoculated, but Must Measure Wound.

BERKELEY, March 16.—Unless young Warren Allen, the student at the State University who refused to permit a personal interview of his vaccination scar by Dr. George F. Reinhardt, medical examiner of the college, makes a change of front within the next few hours it is probable his case will become a cause belli between the forces for and against the theory of vaccination as a preventive of smallpox. Allen received notice this morning to answer certain questions and to fill in certain replies to the medical query blank, which will precipitate the issue at once. The student insists that he will stand on his rights, that it is not necessary to exhibit his wound as long as the medical examiner is satisfied that he has been duly vaccinated and he carries a certificate from Dr. H. N. Rowell of this effect.

No Disrespect Meant.

Dr. Reinhardt says that he means no disrespect to Dr. Rowell when he declares that the certificate is not sufficient for the case at issue. The university regulations, says Reinhardt, provide that a record be kept of the physical appearance of every wound and scar from vaccination. These records are filed for future reference to be examined if a case of smallpox should develop on a student who had been vaccinated.

"This is a matter of college regulation," said Dr. Reinhardt. "I can only report Allen's refusal to obey the rules, in case he again refuses to permit inspection and measurement of the scar. It is not for the university authorities to determine what should be done."

Carrying Out Rules.

"I am satisfied that Allen has been vaccinated," Dr. Rowell's word to that effect is sufficient. But I am simply insisting on the college regulation when I ask that measurements and records be taken of all the details of his wound."

It is probable that the case will go to the Students Affairs Committee for final disposition. If Allen should meet with a ruling which would shut him out of college he will take the case to the courts.

Town Attorney Redmond C. Staats has been retained by Dr. Woodson Allen, the recalcitrant student's father, as legal adviser. The attorney says that as far as he has investigated there is no law providing compulsory inspection of vaccination wounds, but a regulation to this effect is in force.

Will Make Fight.

"How far these regulations may be enforced is a matter I am not prepared to say," said Staats. "I presume that young Allen could not be unjustly treated because of any regulation. The regulation would have to give way to a better and more just one."

OFFICER'S WIFE ORIGINATED CHAIN

The retirement of Sir George Luck, K. C. B., from the position of Lieutenant of the Tower of London calls to mind the fact that it was the wife of this distinguished soldier-by the way, he is regarded as one of the foremost cavalry leaders of the day—who was mainly responsible for the introduction of chain shoulder-straps into the army.

Once when Sir George was about to start on a campaign Lady Luck, with true wifely solicitude, sewed some strips of chain under the cloth between the collar and the shoulder of his tunic, as a protection against chance sabre cuts. This ingenious device answered so well that it has since been officially adopted for all ranks.

FIND ANOTHER FIRM THAT GOT REBATES FROM ROAD

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—In the investigation of the rates and rebates given by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, it was brought out this morning that the Illinois Pacific Glass Company had been granted a rate of 25 cents a hundred to Los Angeles from San Francisco while all other shippers and manufacturers were paying 37 cents.

G. W. Luce, general freight agent for the Southern Pacific Company, explained this discrimination by the some means which he employed to show a legal reason for granting a lower rate for the Pacific Hardware and Steel Company and Baker & Hamilton over the same route, pointing out that they had branch houses in Los Angeles and that if the railroad had not granted the rebates that the goods would have been shipped by water.

AN APT COMPARISON

When Ab del Halk was poor he was one day traveling across a weary plain, says the author of "Life in Morocco," and was very hungry. So he came to the house of the Widow Zaidah, who was also poor; but when he made known his want she set before him two hard-boiled eggs, all the food there was in her house.

Later, when Ab del Halk lived in Marakesh and was very rich, Mohidi, the lawyer, disliking him, persuaded the Widow Zaidah to sue him for the eggs. But not for the eggs alone, for they would have become two chickens, which in time would have so multiplied that the whole fortune of Ab del Halk would now pay for them. When the case came to trial the rich man was not in court.

"Why is the defendant not here?" demanded the judge.

"My lord," said his attorney, "he is gone to sow bolted beans."

"Bolted beans?"

"Bolted beans, my lord."

"Is he mad?"

"He is very wise, my lord."

"Thou mockest?"

"Surely, my lord, if hard-boiled eggs can be hatched, bolted beans will grow."

The suit was promptly dismissed with costs to the plaintiff.

Bogus Employment Agent Sentenced

(Special to The Tribune.) SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—Speedy justice was meted out to John Peterson of 148 Sixth street, who advertised positions for farmers in Nevada and attracted a lot of $2 from the unwary, who afterwards found that there were no positions awaiting them. The man received one year in the county jail from Judge Veller in department one of the police court this morning. He pleaded guilty.

MILLIONAIRES ALWAYS BROKE

The millionaire chronically is "broke." He never has more than $2 or $3 in his pocket, and often hasn't car fare for two. He comes down town in his auto and signs a check. He has his box of cigars in his desk and credit at every shop in town. What is the use of being burdened by carrying money?

By himself without it he protects himself from the small borrower, who is a constant nuisance. If he carried money with him he would not know what to do with it, for he regards it as a nuisance to pay cash for his luncheon or for any purchases he may make. It is so much easier to sign a check for his luncheon and to tell the salesman to charge and send the goods he buys.

The millionaires, more than any other class, are addicted to the telephone habit. They telephone to their money accurate, they have their secretaries telephone for them. They send their secretaries over to their haberdashery to buy ties for them, and shirts and collars or anything else they need in.

Of course the private secretary always has everything charged and the need of money is done away with. When cash must be paid, which is seldom, the check is given.

Sometimes millionaires are greatly embarrassed by being "broke." A millionaire borrowed $2 from me one night last week because he was compelled to take a taxi cab and he didn't have enough small change in his trousers to pay the fare. He was at a downtown restaurant and had ordered his machine to call at midnight. On its way to the restaurant the machine broke down. The millionaire could not keep the young woman with whom he had dined standing at the curb, so he escorted her back into the restaurant and under the pretext of going to the phone to call a cab slipped over the my table and touched me for $2. Of course he got it. I always carry more money about than any of my millionaire friends.

Those who have not extensive credit have to carry money with them. The credit they have the more money they are obliged to have in their pockets. There are only one or two shops in town at which I have an account. When I buy elsewhere I pay cash. Naturally I am obliged to carry with me a great deal more currency than the man who can buy and sell on ten times over, but who has accounts at every shop in State street or whose name is a guarantee of payment at stores where he is entirely unknown.

All the millionaires are obliged to do is to identify himself to be able to carry home the most valuable jewels in State street in his coat pocket. He can come down town in the morning, drop in at a jewelry store and buy a $50,000 diamond necklace for his wife, drop it into his side pocket and take it home at night without parting with one cent of the $2 or $3 he may have in his trousers.

J. Ogden Armour seldom carries more than $1 or $5 with him, and Harold F. McCormick, whose father-in-law is the richest man in the world and who himself is worth tens of millions, rarely is able to find much more than a bunch of keys and a knife in his pocket.

V. Vernon Booth sometimes might be caught with a $10 bill in his pocket but the usual amount he carries in his clothes is nearer the price of a single theater ticket.

Montgomery Ward is another Chicago millionaire who rarely carries much currency with him, and the same is true of John Dupe, George Thorne, Franklin MacVeagh, W. J. Chalmers, W. C. Thorne, Edwin A. Potter, Orson Smith, Frank O. Lowden and all the other millionaires who make up the list of Chicago's vasty rich.

Marshall Field often was caught without 10 cents in his pocket, but he rarely was placed in an embarrassing position for lack of currency; everybody in Chicago knew him by sight and naturally his credit was good.

Ninety-five per cent of the employees of the millionaire mechanics and manufacturers of Chicago carry more money with them than their employers. If R. T. Crane were to empty his pockets on one of the tables at his big plant and call upon his employees to examine a single and empty table it probably would be found that nearly every employee in the Crane office could produce more currency than the great "boss" himself.

The same condition probably exists in every business establishment in Chicago. If any one of Chicago's millionaires should be called upon to procure from his pockets $20 in currency under penalty of receiving a life sentence or failing to do so he probably would be compelled to bow his head submissively and accept the sentence.—Chicago Tribune.

WORK TO SAVE SLOT MACHINES

Majority of Alameda City Council Favor Abolishing Gambling Devices.

ALAMEDA, March 16.—The anti-slot machine measure will come before the city council for action tonight, and if it is passed the clicking days of the alluring devices in Alameda will be at an end.

The majority of the municipal legislators are understood to be in favor of the adoption of the proposed ordinance which was framed upon the recommendation of the police commissioners and introduced by Councilman Magarinos.

Representatives of local cigar stores and other places where the contrivances have been in general use have been meeting members of the city council known to be opposed to the machine and have been endeavoring to persuade them that if the bill becomes a law it will work hardships on the cigar dealers, and handicapping them in competing with dealers in Oakland and San Francisco, where certain makes of slot machines are permitted to be operated.

Police Commissioner Al Latham was the first official to inaugurate proceedings to abolish the slot machines here. He induced the board, of which he is a member, to recommend to the city council that the slot machines of every character be prohibited. The proposed ordinance fixes the minimum fine for violation at $100 and the maximum fine at $500.

FINANCIAL STRINGENCY FORCES MEN INTO ARMY

Enlistments in the Army for the last three months have rapidly increased. It is attributed to the panic checking so many industries that wages have been reduced and many men thrown out of employment. As the chances to earn good wages in civil life diminish, the soldier's pay becomes more attractive. It is plain that Congress has but to put the pay of soldiers on something like the basis that such men can earn in business or in the industries, and there will be plenty of recruits to keep our ranks full. An ample number of young men has a predilection for the army and have only been kept from it by the utter insufficiency of pay.

MOTHER TURNS SON OVER TO THE POLICE

Thirteen-year-old John Diggs was turned over to the police yesterday by his mother Mrs. Sadie Diggs of 912 Pine street who asked that he be locked up and sent to a reform school. According to Mrs. Diggs, her son is the worst boy in Oakland. He is accused of stealing various articles from his own mother, annoys the neighbors, throws stones at everybody and everything on the street, refuses to go to school and is generally misbehaved.

MUSICAL COMEDY MAKES BIG HIT

Miss Mannering to Appear at Macdonough Theater in "Glorious Betsy."

"Coming Thro' the Rye" opened at the Macdonough yesterday afternoon, and judging by the laughter and applause, the Hobart-Stoane musical comedy will do a banner business during its sojourn at this city. Frank Lator as Nott, the tailor, carries off the honors. There is not a weak spot in the performance, all of the principals being first-class artists in their respective lines.

Frank Lator has a line of comedy all his own. He moves his on-lookers from tears to laughter in an instant and does it so cleverly that it stamps him as a comedian of the first class.

Laughing Song Hit. Scille Stember's work in the role of Mrs. Kobb was bright and crisp, while her laughing song made a tremendous hit. Fred L. Tilden, Sidney Toler and Harry Burgess contributed to the musical comedy of the entertainment in praiseworthy fashion. "That's What the Rose Said to Me," as sung by Eustace Dunsmore, had to be rendered six times before the spectators were satisfied to allow the sweet songbird to trip behind this scene.

The jingly music of the whistling variety and is fully up to the standard.

"Coming Thro' the Rye" will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night.

Miss Mannering to Appear.

The heroine of Miss Mannering's new play, "Glorious Betsy," which is scheduled for first production in this city at the Macdonough, is none other than the beautiful and fascinating wit, Elizabeth Patterson, the Baltimore belle, who made international history in her marriage to Jerome Bonaparte, the younger brother of Napoleon, Emperor of the French. Miss Mannering, with all her arch wits, merry moods, careless grace, innocent coquetry and ingenious met-

PANTOMIME WINS WITH HIS UNIQUE PERFORMANCE

Novel Act Among Many That Score Successes at Orpheum.

So much had been promised for Fred Walton, the pantomime artist from England who made his debut in Oakland at the Orpheum yesterday, that had Walton failed to "make good" it would have been a catastrophe for him. Walter averted any such dismal sequel to his debut here by scoring what theater managers call "an enormous hit."

Walton's sketch, "Cassie's Dream," is a very clever thing, and Walton triumphed by holding the attention of the theater goers from beginning to end of his performance. He is a pantomime artist direct from the music halls of London, where pantomime is a common thing, and only an expert can pass muster before British theater goers. This brand of entertainment found instant favor in Oakland, and Walton was installed after his first performance as one of the prime favorites in vaudeville here. His sketch was a novelty; his acting was a surprise and all his business was unique and delightful.

Della Fox Scores. Della Fox, very pleasant to see after a lapse of years in which she has confined her stage work to eastern theaters, got a reception from theater goers at the Orpheum yesterday that must have delighted her. She was as adorable as ever. Her change of costume from fur-trimmed gowns to a suit of natty tweeds showed that she is still the greatest of all male impersonators among comic opera women. She warbled a number of catchy songs, and included in her selections the famous ballad from "Wang," which she was the first to make popular in other days. "A Pretty Girl" and "A Summer's Night."

There have been plenty of banjoists in Oakland before, but none who have equaled Mr. and Mrs. R. Clark. English music hall performers. They were among the newcomers yesterday, and while they came as strangers they finished as prime favorites.

Musicians and Funmakers. There was a sale of laughter in evidence when the Snyder and Buckley duo came on stage. These German musicians are about the smartest team of fun-makers who have visited these parts in many a day.

Harry Allister added Admiral "Bob" Evans to his collection of famous men, the impersonation calling for a round of applause.

La Sylphie, the sinuous, graceful dancer, did her unique bit of terpsichorean work, and was again a thing of beauty and a joy forever to those who like that sort of thing.

Fred Watson, a good looking young fellow, and the Morrisey Sisters, two agile girls who dance and sing, came on early and made the crowd in good humor for the fanciful vaudeville that was to follow.

Carleita, the human dragon, opened the bill, after a lively march by Conductor Kowalski and his men.

It can be said as readily seen how she can to the life simulate the historical heroine of this new play which was especially written for her by Rida Johnson Young.

"The Burgomaster."

Fresh from its phenomenal engagement at the Playhouse this evening in Rochester, "The Three of Us" is a powerful human story, simply but fascinatingly unfolded. Miss Marion Mabry will play the role of Rhy Macchesney. The part will give her a great opportunity—one of broader possibilities than that in which she made her first appearance before an Oakland audience two weeks ago. Others in the cast are Landers Stevens, "Herr" Stummer, Robert Harrison, George P. Webster, Jack Sheehan, George Friend, Miss Lillian Elliot, Miss Georgie Cooper and other popular members of the company.

"The Three of Us" is one of the most recent of New York successes. For over 200 hundred nights it was played to immense audiences in New York and then it was taken on a triumphal tour of all the large cities of the East. Everywhere it was received with unbounded enthusiasm.

The play will be staged with all the taste that distinguishes the productions at Ye Liberty. The scene of the story is in a Nevada mining town, so there are fine opportunities for picturesque scenic effects.

SINGERS TO APPEAR IN "HALF A KING"

There will be a large crowd in the Idora park opera house this evening for the opening performance of "Half a King," one of the most entertaining of comic operas. Great pains have been taken in the preparation of the piece and the production will be one of the best given at Idora in recent months.

"Half a King" is rich in melodious music and fun making opportunities. Both singers and comedians will have a great chance to show what they can do. The opera was made famous by "The Idora" and is sure to be a delightful evening's entertainment when presented by the Idora company.

The cast is a particularly strong one. In it will appear Thomas Persse, Feris Hartman, Nettie Duglow, Ann Tasker, Grace Travers, Walter de Leon, Walter Catlett, Joseph Fogarty and several other favorites of the company in addition to a large number of attractive chorus girls.

Both scenery and costumes will be rich and tasteful; they have been prepared with utmost care.

For fun, music and beauty this opera should be attended. The interest already manifested insures a crowded house this evening.

MRS. R. CLARK BANJOIST AT THE OAKLAND ORPHEUM.

MILLIONAIRE SAYS CHILDREN KEPT HIM PRISONER

Locked Two Weeks in Chicago Hotel; Kidnaped to California; Robbed of Estate.

CHICAGO, March 15.—Charges that he was confined in the Palmer House as a "prisoner" for two weeks, last January, were made by Edward H. Jack, a millionaire, of Florida, whose children are fighting for his estate.

Jack also claims that after he was released from the hotel he discovered that he was said to have signed a declaration of trust, conveying all of his property, personal and real, to a Chicago trust company. "This company is now asked for the appointment of a trustee with powers of a conservator."

Mrs. Anna Bowyer, 3327 Grand Boulevard, is the daughter of Jack and is aggressive in the fight. She was said last night to be in Peoria. She is a divorcee, as is her sister, Mrs. Minnie H. Young, of St. Louis.

A bill for a receiver was filed in the Superior Court, January 22, by Mrs. Young, Lila A. Howe, Mrs. Rose J. MacGonigle, Edward Roy Jack and Niel H. Jack.

Threaten Aged Father.

At that time the petitioners stated that their father had been mentally deranged for several years.

It was agreed by the children that Jack should be taken to California for his treatment. Upon the agreement, William Jack surreptitiously and by threats of violence and with the aid of Edward Humphrey, who obtained a power of attorney over the old man, took the father to California and there secreted him, until Judge McEwen heard the suit and appointed the trust company receiver.

This action is now being fought by the older Jack, who says he was ignorant of signing a declaration of trust which took the property rights from him.

At the Palmer House there is no record that Jack or any members of his family have been guests there this year.

Jack at one time owned the land where the Chicago board of trade now stands, and he has been an extensive holder of real estate in Peoria.

ROOSEVELT SIDES WITH RICH, CRIES TILLMAN

Senator Declares Bad Government Due to Ignorance of People.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Citizens what he claimed to be "cold-blooded facts" to show executive responsibility for many of the evils which exist.

"In the most pronounced language he has denounced the combination between labor organizations and the boycott, but to this same vote by denouncing changes in the law as interpreted by the Supreme Court. Organized labor is to be relieved from the prohibition of the Supreme Court decisions, but along with it must go the relief of capital. Once relieved the malefactors of great wealth will smile in triumph over their victory while labor will find itself no freer than before."

The charges against the evils in connection with the recent financial flurry to the President and administration and said:

Uncrowned King.

"These are only a few of the achievements of this uncrowned king." With others of his kind he has created a Frankenstein monster, which, unattended by the blood of suicide and fears of heartbroken women, threatens to devour and consume his creators who were able to quench his thirst by torrents of gold poured out by the Federal treasury.

On the Senate and House with its subservience to the wishes of the executive.

After Negro Vote.

Tillman asserted that every effort was being made to control the negro vote, going back to the charge of favoritism on the part of the President towards the wealthy. He said:

"The poor fools who were shouting his praises have so far failed to understand that the bad government which the Republican party has given the country is the result of the ignorance and debauchery of the people. Misled and deceived by the newspapers, which are owned by the rich men, labor, organized and disorganized, trails along behind the banner of Republicanism and shouts for Roosevelt against his political enemies who have been robbed are, equally as enthusiastic as the millionaires who have been benefited. The capacity of the people to govern themselves wisely and protect their interests is seriously called in question by existing conditions. The money which came by dishonest and unfair methods is used to control the machinery of nomination at Chicago. The price of negro delegates in the South rises by the day."

OPPOSE GRANTING MORGAN LICENSE

Petition Opposing Liquor House Signed by 361 Residents of District.

No decision was reached today by the Board of Supervisors as to the granting of a liquor license to J. Morgan and J. M. Morgan, proprietors of "Morgan," on East Fourteenth street, in Fruitvale, although a heated discussion was indulged in in the board rooms.

A number of residents of Fruitvale, headed by the Rev. Walter E. Tanner, appeared to protest against the granting of the license. They were represented by Attorney Abe F. Leach. Attorney John S. De Lancy appeared for Morgan and Moyer.

Leach presented protests signed by 361 names. De Lancy raised the objection that the names were not those of qualified voters within the meaning of the county liquor ordinance, as they were not signed by the persons eligible to vote. County Clerk Cook testified that he had examined the rolls and found that 32 of the names were on them. Leach represented that many of the residents had become registered voters since.

Second Protest.

Another protest was filed by C. B. Cox and G. W. McGahan of Fruitvale to the effect that the petition for the license was not signed by six out of ten of the nearest property owners, as required by law. The board referred this protest to County Surveyor Haviland, who will report next Monday.

Leach, in behalf of the signers of the protest, contended that the spirit of the ordinance requiring the signatures of property owners was to permit all qualified voters to become signers if they so desire.

Here Supervisor Kelley interrupted and pointed out that the ordinance specifically stated that the only persons eligible to sign a protest are voters who were registered at least forty days prior to the filing of the protest.

In Residence District.

"This law was not intended to hinge upon a technicality of the date of registration," retorted Leach. "It was the intention of the board who drew up this ordinance to grant all the voters of the county the privilege of voting upon such a protest. The district from which this protest comes is part of a young, growing community. Many people have recently built homes there, and they are certainly entitled to say whether they are to have undesirable resorts at their very doorways. The orgies and howlings which a certain class of visitors to Morgan's residence indulge in will no longer be tolerated in this community. Until very recently the resort was practically isolated, and its conduct attracted but little attention. Now, however, it is in a residence district and it is natural that property owners and dwellers should object to the carousals which are carried on by those who have established this house in the center of their home community."

County Clerk Cook reported that he had carefully checked over the list of signers to the protest, and found that only 93 had been registered forty days prior to the filing of the protest in accordance with the terms of the ordinance.

Attorney Leach then announced that he desired to submit 32 additional names to be added to the list of signers. All of these names, he said, were registered.

ST. MARY'S PASTOR NOW OUT OF DANGER

The many friends of the Rev. Father Edward P. Dempsey will be glad to hear that his physician Dr. I. Hamilton reports him out of danger. It was just a week ago today that Father Dempsey was removed to Providence Hospital suffering from pneumonia. For a while his illness was very dangerous but he is now convalescing and it is expected that he will return to his parish house in a few days.

SERIOUS LOSS BY FLOODS ALL OVER THE NORTHWEST

Raging Waters Do Damage Everywhere

PORTLAND, Oregon, March 15.—Not in a year have so many points in the Pacific Northwest all at the same time faced such serious damage from flood as they do this morning. From last Friday until now heavy rains have fallen over the whole of the northwest and every rivulet is a roaring torrent and every river a lake. Bridges have been washed out, or dynamited, railroad tracks are under water and when traffic is not delayed by these disasters huge landslides block the way.

The most serious reports come from Walla Walla. Mill Creek which flows through that city nearly every winter goes on a rampage, but at present it is outdoing previous records and has caused wholesale destruction of business in general and destroying several houses.

Next in point of seriousness is the alluvial plain of acacia which is still holding after last year's floods are still holding there is fear that they are becoming undermined. In this case the town will suffer serious damage.

Rivers are Rising.

In the Lewiston, Idaho, country railroad trucks are reported under water, bridges washed out and fears are entertained that the waterworks which supply that city will be flooded and the supply of water shut off. Many families have been driven from the lowlands.

The Touchet and Patit rivers have washed out the city dike at Dayton, Washington.

In Western Washington the rivers around Seattle and Tacoma are still rising but little damage, fortunately, has resulted so far.

The Willamette river and its tributaries are running like a mill race above Salem but no damage has resulted.

Railroads Suffer.

As is usual during flood conditions, the railroads are numbered among the principal sufferers. The worst of these is the Oregon Railroad and Navigation—Northern Pacific system—which has been unable to send a train through for the past thirty-six hours. This road is blocked principally by heavy landslides east and west of Pendleton.

Train service in the neighborhood of Walla Walla and from Lewiston north is at a standstill.

The Northern Pacific and Great Northern are almost entirely out of the flood districts, though the Northern Pacific has suffered to some extent from slides in the western part of Washington.

The prospects this morning are that conditions throughout the three states will be worse instead of better. According to the latest forecast, a new storm which made its appearance off Vancouver Island Sunday morning is now moving across the Pacific Northwest and will cause general rains throughout the district.

Montenegro Prince Dies: Cannes—Prince Stephan, 11-year-old son of Prince Mirko of Montenegro, died here today.

Kaiser Congratulates Roosevelt: London—A special dispatch to the Daily Mail from Berlin says that the emperor sent warm personal congratulations to President Roosevelt on the arrival of the fleet at Magdalena Bay ahead of schedule time.

Francis Joseph III: Vienna—Emperor Francis Joseph, who has been confined to his rooms in Schoenbrunn Castle for several days suffering from a cold in the head, passed a satisfactory night. There was no fever. A lunatic attempted to enter the imperial gardens last night, but was arrested by the guards and removed to an asylum.

But, asked the first Co-ed, "why did you elect to take up the study of German instead of French?" "The German professor was so awfully handsome, you know."

Look After the Boys.

The one coming to the front now for grave consideration is the boy of the street—the dirty-faced kid who throws mud balls, swipes things from the corner grocery store and who thinks of as many kinds of little deviltries as he has ideas; the object of good-natured annoyance in most communities, yet always an object of solicitude. He cannot be ignored; remember that one fact. If he is overlooked young he may thrust himself forward later as an incipient criminal. These are truisms of which the world is being rapidly made cognizant—the best argument in the world favoring the establishment of a juvenile court.

There is a grand work open along these lines of which Oakland can take lessons from other cities. Denver was foremost in the West in the work through the indefatigability of Judge Ben Lindsay. It is a growing movement and one commanding attention. Kansas City is the latest city to make advancements. It has organized a Juvenile Improvement Association with its object to take the boys off the street at night and put them in clubrooms, to furnish a hotel for them, give employment and even at a pinch to pay them salaries to go to school. Of course, there are laws to make truants attend to their business, but what appeals easier to a boy of this stripe than to break such a law when by environment and natural cussedness the boy strives to beat the law in other ways?

Look after the boys young.

The Kaiser and His Critics.

At last the critics of Germany's war lord, the imperial Kaiser, have had an opportunity for live comment and they are making the most of it.

The New York World says: "The Times assumes that the Kaiser is guilty of trying to influence Great Britain's naval policy in a way favorable to German interests. It clamors for more warships as an offset to Germany's naval preparations. To the House of Commons Mr. Asquith, virtually the head of the Cabinet in Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's absence, explains that the Kaiser's letter 'was a purely personal and private communication, conceived in an entirely friendly spirit. My noble friend's (Lord Tweedmouth) answer was equally private and informal, and neither the letter nor its answer was known or communicated to the Cabinet.' As for the government's naval estimates, they had been decided upon before the letter arrived."

Be matters as they may, Mr. Asquith at least has the advantage of knowing what he is talking about. He may not be able to thoroughly cover the embarrassment of the English government in being forced by circumstances to withhold the correspondence. Whatever else the Kaiser's indiscretion amounts to, he has at least aroused fresh suspicions of England against Germany.

The running down of Mrs. Burckhalter by an automobile on Broadway is one of the natural and inevitable consequences of chauffeurs plunging their machines through crowds getting on and off the street cars. It is a marvel that so few casualties of this character have occurred. A hundred times a day do chauffeurs recklessly endanger life at the corner of Twelfth and Broadway and the junction of Fourteenth and Broadway. With a brutal disregard for the safety and feelings of others they plunge honking through throngs of women and children, old and young, apparently taking a keen delight in making people run for their lives. In nearly every instance it is entirely unnecessary for automobiles to run through the crowds at the principal street car junctions. By turning out of Broadway or into that thoroughfare a block above or below the chief transfer stations motorists would avoid endangering and harassing pedestrians. But the majority of them seem to make it a point to take the streets and sides of streets most frequented by pedestrians. Wagon drivers are addicted to the same practice. It is high time the authorities took the matter in hand and put a curb on this arrogant disregard of the rights and safety of the mass of citizens. When somebody gets hurt because of it an example should be made of the offender.

A ponderous editorial in Leslie's Weekly issues a warning to the supporters of Secretary Taft for the Presidency by quoting the fate of favorites before the convention who passed into the "Also Ran" class. An appeal of words with no weight or significance. Most all good politicians are like the wise man who believes in favorites. Long shots are hunger breeders. Perhaps this is a trifling way to deal with a serious matter, but it really seems all the criticism would justify.

Commander Key, one of the naval experts before the Senate committee in Washington, made some severe strictures on our ships, but paid this glowing tribute to the man "behind the gun":

"It is a fine thing," he said, "that a young man, green from a farm in the West, can be taken on a ship now and drilled so that in three months he can make a hit with one of the big guns every forty seconds."

Charles W. Morse, the dethroned "ice king," is in the toils. He says he "is the goat." Morse still has many friends who believe that he is not altogether as bad as painted. It's fair to let him feel a little disgruntled. Most men would after losing a fortune of $20,000,000 and have to face serious charges in court.

The verdict from Idaho is awaited with interest. Orchard has pleaded guilty of murder. It will be interesting to see what is the particular brand of immunity they hand out up there.

Thaw's wife says he is insane and has always been so since she knew him. She ought to know if any one does.

At any rate there will be a number of us who will go to the dogs in the near future. Oakland is going to hold a dog show.

Terse Press Comment

Neighbors Disagree on Well-Established Grounds in Politics.

"If Taft were elected President, he would probably have the appointment of three or four justices of the United States Supreme Court. It is not hard to guess how such appointments would stand on the question of government by injunction. With federal courts packed by Taft, and a big army and a big navy controlled by Taft, there would be no use of a congress to make laws, or even for the blessed initiative and referendum, since the courts and the army and the navy both directed by Roosevelt per Big Bill would really govern the country without regard to laws."—Woodland Democrat.

As the Japanese Look to Some of Our Southern Editors.

Some deputy assessors in this valley are having troublesome experience with Japanese. The fact that the name of a Jap does not amount to much, is one of the troubles here in this country. They are hard to identify, and may give one name today and another tomorrow. Several out on the Little Lucerne vineyard, refused to give any names today, and they will be arrested. People who never had to run up against this Japanese question in America often are radical in their views of friendliness to the Japs, but did they understand the true situation, they would do differently. The Japs are smart and cunning, and they take advantage of a situation that often enables them to protect their race in a manner that, in this country, amounts to an abuse of privilege and a violation of all ethics of justice. —Hanford Sentinel

There Should Be No Time Lost to Amend These Laws.

The Supreme Court has sustained the decision of the Appellate Court in the bribery graft cases. We have great respect for the opinion of Justice Beatty and when he says the law has been correctly interpreted by the Appellate Court we know he means it. The law must be radically defective when a man like Ruef can levy blackmail and practice extortion upon business men without committing a crime known to the law. There should be no time lost in amending it and that should be one of the issues in the coming campaign. —Woodland Democrat.

"The Party, It Is I." By Which Is Meant Democracy and Bryan.

Hence the Denver convention will probably meet, go through the form of nominating Bryan, select whom he may desire for a running mate and adopt a Bryan platform. It is hardly likely all Democrats will approve, but Mr. Bryan will, and Mr. Bryan is "it." The New York World may go on suggesting names until the very day of the convention and Mr. Bryan will still be the whole show. To all intents and purposes he will be the nominating body. —South Bend, Ind., Tribune.

OKLAHOMA HOTELS MUST FURNISH 9-FOOT SHEETS

GUTHRIE, Okla.—To protect guests against the possibility of tuberculous infection and to gratify their aesthetic tastes the House of Representatives passed a sweeping bill regulating hotels. The measure provides that every hotel shall furnish sheets nine feet long, which will keep all other bed clothing from contact with the sleeper. This is sanitary. The measure further insists that hotels shall use "no cup dish, vessel or receptacle for food that has cracks visible to the naked eye." This insures a cleaner display that is repulsive to the eye. The House finished the day by making it a felony for corporation officers to conceal their books or statements and providing jail sentences for lobbyists.

CUTS OFF 7 CHILDREN WITH A DOLLAR EACH

NEW YORK.—Seven children are cut off with a dollar each by the will of Thomas Rogers, of the Bronx, who, dying on January 22 last, left an estate which the petition sets forth, exceeds $10,000 in real estate and $10,000 in personal property. No reason is assigned for the exclusion of the seven to the benefit of Thomas Rogers, Jr., who lives in Liberty, N. Y. He is left $5000 in cash, some jewelry and the income of the residuary estate for life. The children disinherited are Jason, William Caldwell, Jay S. and Robert William Rogers, sons, and Ida R. Miller, Emily R. Miller and Mary Ann Rogers, daughters.

As some cloud-draped white moon lures on the tides— Until at last the king forsakes his throne. And clasps her in his arms, kissing her lips Of rose, and crying eagerly, "Mine own!" MAKES OLGA'S SOUL KISS LOOK LIKE CHILLY PLAT

Mean Man Timed Them 7 Minutes

NEW YORK, March 16.—The osculatory art is only in its infancy on the stage. Harlem presented a performance to a mixed audience on West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street last night that put Olga Netherland, Sophie Brandt and Mary Garden twenty times twenty days in the shade.

At One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street and Eighth avenue there is an open-air transfer station. About church time last evening two figures appeared at a window in a hotel near by. The window framed a picture resembling with orange blossoms and jessamine. Two pairs of arms met each other, a pretty blond head rested on a manly shoulder for a second, and the lips turned upward in invitation.

"A soul kiss," suggested a cold-footed citizen waiting for a car outside. "I have waited for ten minutes. It is now 8:10, and they are off."

Two pairs of lips met. Two forms swayed. A piano tinkled a waltz dream. A small boy snickered. A fat woman sniffed. The corner crowd grew and grew.

"One minute," said the man with the watch. "They are out for a record."

The two forms nestled closer. Two minutes, three minutes, four, five and six.

Then seven by the watch. The throng outside was crowding the frankfurter man off his post. The "cop" was too busy watching the watch to do anything else.

"There ought to be a law against that," said the fat woman who had sniffed. A sedate man who had been looking on with a sour face hurried across the street and telephoned an alarm to the management of the hotel.

"Besides," he explained, "they are blocking traffic."

The osculating couple at the window started. They hurried toward the door. A bell boy appeared with a note. It was from the downstairs. Down came the curtain with a bang.

"Seven minutes fifty-six and one-fifth seconds," said the man with the watch. "That is—up to the drop of the curtain."

MODERN PORTIA WINS HER CASE

NEW YORK, March 16.—Miss Julia F. Hoch, who is not yet out of her teens, proved herself a second Portia while defending a man charged with embezzlement in the Quarter Sessions Court. Nerves. The jury promptly decided she had won her case and returned a verdict of acquittal.

The defendant was William Crease, of Bloomfield, formerly a driver for Hahn & Co., who conduct a big department store in Newark. He was charged with having failed to turn in the concert $159.50, which he had collected on C. O. D. packages.

When the trial was called Miss Hoch,

Marries Niece 74 Years of Age

The record in Brooklyn's "Cupid Bureau" received a severe jolt recently when George W. Bourne, an electrician, eighty years old, of 96 Orange street, walked up to Clerk Scutley, thinking his caller was the parent of a son or daughter bent on matrimony, asked where the couple were.

"The couple!" exclaimed Mr. Bourne, who is hale and hearty. "Why, I am half of the couple. Ha, ha, ha! I want you to show me how to do about this affair. I was married once, about fifty years ago," he added, somewhat seriously, "but we had no such foolish wrinkles as this thing your politicians have sprung on us. I'm not from Miami; nevertheless I've got to be shown."

"Where is the bride-to-be?" asked Cupid's clerk.

"I'll have her here in a minute," said Mr. Bourne. "Although she has been married by her father, Mr. Bourne, will perform the ceremony in the Presbyterian Church at Rockville Centre, and after the ceremony we intend to have a honeymoon, covering the entire length of Long Island. We shall live in the home of my prospective bride in East New York."

The prospective bride, a widow, is the niece, by marriage, of the bridegroom-elect. The latter, by marriage, is related to County Judge Louis C. Fawcett. He is the oldest member of the Y. M. C. A. in Brooklyn and is one of the oldest living members of Plymouth Church.

Mr. Bourne is a strong advocate of walking. He claims nothing of taking a stroll from the bridge to Coney Island. He has never indulged in tobacco or liquor and does not wear glasses.

PRINCESS-NOVELIST INCURS ROYAL DISPLEASURE BY DECLINING TO MARRY

Princess Fedora, the youngest sister of the Empress of Germany, is the author of a recently published novel, "Hahn Berta." She has a romantic history. For years, it is said, she had defied the displeasure of her Imperial brother-in-law by declining all offers of marriage, and has persisted in living in seclusion. She was engaged to be married to Duke Frederick of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, who, while in command of a torpedo-boat, perished in the Baltic with his entire crew.

TATTOOED AND ABOOED

Mrs. George Cornwallis West was, when Lady Randolph Churchill, the only titled woman in English society who could boast of having been tattooed. When traveling in India with her husband, she had the good fortune to see an English soldier tattooing a blue-jacket and this suggested the idea of having the operation performed on herself.

Marjorie Gould Refuses Title

Not merely because she is an heiress, but also because of her own independence, Marjorie Gould, who is with her parents in the land of orange trees, is attracting attention. Her father has been emphatic in denying she has lost her heart to a young Englishman of title, but society is gossiping about the future. Yet Marjorie Gould may be relied upon to know her own mind and to assert it, when it comes to deciding a question in which she is interested. She has developed a cleverness and

ANNE MORGAN TO AID THE POOR

Gives Her Time and Coin of Pierpont.

NEW YORK, March 16.—Women interested in the work of the national civic federation met at the residence of Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of J. Pierpont Morgan, to form a national woman's committee federation. Among those present were Mrs. J. Gordon Harriman, Mrs. Julian K. West, Mrs. Joseph M. McCormick of Chicago, Mrs. Richard Walnwright of Washington, Mrs. S. Thurston Ballard of Louisville, Ky., and Mrs. William H. Crocker of San Francisco. The woman's committee will interest itself in the welfare of the women and men workers in various industries. There will be a national body with sectional committees in all parts of the country.

A meeting was held in the afternoon in the assembly room of the Colony club, at which the New York committee was organized with these officers: Mrs. A. Alexander, chairman; Miss Anne Morgan, vice-chairman; Miss C. V. R. Deland, secretary; Mrs. V. Everett Macy, treasurer. Mrs. J. Gordon Harriman was elected chairman of the committee on the needs of workers in specific industries, and Mrs. Julia K. West chairman of the committee on welfare work for the government employees.

Mrs. J. Gordon Harriman made a speech in which she said: "All of us have influence. Some of us are the wives and sisters of employers of large numbers of factory operators, or perhaps ourselves are owners and stockholders in the companies. Should not the woman who spends the money which the employer help to provide take a special interest in their welfare, especially in that of the woman wage earners? Neither emotional philanthropy nor ignorant interference must influence us."

Mrs. Harriman suggested that the

Many Peeping Toms When Co-Eds Don Male Attire

Because a man intruded on the annual dance given by the sorority co-eds at Indiana University Saturday night there is a possibility of about forty students being expelled from the institution.

The young women attend this affair in masculine costumes, and view of the festivities is carefully guarded from the male students. This year forty young men peered from cracks under the doors and from ventilators in the ceiling and then decamped with $75 worth of refreshments.

Not only did the co-eds, with other members of the committee on student affairs, have been investigating. A number of students were questioned.

THE MURDER OF THE SEAL

How the Helpless Young and Their Mothers Are Buichered to Make Coats for Society Women.

The ice echoes no footfalls, so the murderer of the seal is a stealthy act. Yes, it seems like murder. On the pan lies a whitecoat alone. Up to it hurries one of the hunters. Lifting his bat above his head he measures the distance, then swinging downward the iron-shot point, he strikes the skull of the seal such a blow that it is crushed in as if of pasteboard, says Day Allen Willey, in the March Metropolitan.

Toasting aside the bat and whipping out the scalping knife, with a swift undercut and two or three slides strikes the keen blade has severed the hide, and the lay-one of fat beneath, so they can be rolled into a "petit," the hide holding the fat in its folds.

The next whitecoat is with its parents. Their hide is coarser, but worth having, so the hunter takes a quick aim, lodges a growing mate just at the base of the brain. Here the skull is thinnest.

One of the hunters stands guard over the "blow-hole" pucker, the mother from escaping, while another bats the cub.

Then the female, who would desert her offspring to save her own life, is clubbed on the head. A few strokes of the knives and three more bloody carcasses crimson the ice.

The pole of the first seal is piled with the other three in a "pen." The flagman sticks a flag by its side, and the hunters hurry onward, leaving the pelts to be towed back on the ship when the hunt is ended.

Thus the slaughter continues hour after hour until nightfall only ends the stroke of the bat and thrust of the knife. If it began at day break, the field may be strewn with thousands of dead seals, for if the pen of ice is thronged with them, as is sometimes the case, a hundred men will kill ten times their number in a day, since most of the seals are harps, which seldom try to protect their young, and are slain without attempting to defend themselves.

Duchess Anne Made A Poor Wife

Early in the seventeenth century there was a favorite haunt of smart women known as the New Exchange, situated on the south side of the Strand, London. It was a sort of arcade of little shops, where gloves, perfumery and fans were sold, and here a girl called Anne Charles kept a "wash hall" and glove makers. Anne's father was a blacksmith and her mother a washerwoman, and she had married in 1618 a man named Redford, with whom she refused to live. One of the people whose lunch Anne's mother washed was no less than General Monk, then imprisoned in the Tower. The general took a fancy to Anne and married her after her husband's death, and, as he eventually became Duke of Albemarle, the washerwoman's little daughter became a duchess. This duchess was no beauty, and a vulgar woman into bargain. Pepys once dined with the duke and duchess, and records his impression thus: "April 4, 1667. Dirty dishes, and a nasty wretched table and meat, of which I made but an ill dinner."

CZARINA FORBIDS SMOKING BY WOMEN

The Russian czarina has issued an edict against the use of tobacco by women, who have been long accustomed to it, and find the loss of it very trying to their nerves. The mistress who must see that the order is obeyed is one of the most inveterate smokers in the royal household.

NOT ON THE BILLS.
The careless villain had to go and toss a match into the snow. The snow combusted with a flare, and the villain went away from there.

Mrs. Moffitt had sent out invitations for a large reception to be given last evening for Miss Shaw, but cards were recalled and the affair simplified to the informal meeting of a few friends since the talented actress did not feel equal to the more formal occasion. Mrs. Moffitt has been giving a series of delightful affairs at her home on Filbert street since her return several weeks ago from New York, where she was extensively entertained.

Deep in my heart I shut one thought of you,
Deeper than Love may look,
As one who lays a June-red rose between
The pages of a book,

Of old and lovely legends read no more
For memory and pain,
Yet knows the whiteness of one page must bear
A sweetness and a stain.

IN THE STATE

May Pull Up Vines.—Redding.—Hop growers of the Fern and Twin valley districts of Shasta county are discouraged over the outlook for this year's crop of hops and have announced their intention of uprooting the vines and devote the land to more profitable uses.

Prospector Lost.—San Bernardino.—According to reports, it is believed that Henry V. Holbrook, a Nevada prospector, has been lost in Death Valley. He and a party had been prospecting in the Funeral Range when he became separated from the party about a mile. During the night a sand storm occurred and it is believed he got lost and has perished.

In France Forty Days.—Los Angeles.—Tomorrow is the fortieth day on which Mrs. Beulah Hawkins, the woman who has been in a trance at the county hospital, has been asleep. Many believe that the woman will awaken tomorrow, which will make her sleep of the same duration as the one several years ago.

Fail to Identify Remains.—Pasadena.—Investigation by Coroner Hartwell of the finding of the remains of a man in a canyon near Monrovia yesterday failed to establish the identity of the corpse, which is a more skeleton. The body had lain in the canyon at least three years.

Good for Everybody.—Mr. Norman E. Boulter, a prominent architect in the Deibert San Francisco, says "I fully endorse all that has been said of Electric Bitters as a tonic medicine. It is good for everybody. It corrects stomach, liver and kidney disorders in a prompt and efficient manner and builds up the system. Electric Bitters is the best spring medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter as a blood purifier. It is unequalled for at Osgood Brothers' drug store."

A BOAST OR A KNOCK.—"You creatures," said the King of Beasts who had been boasting a little "don't seem to be greatly impressed when I tell you of my exploits. I responded 'Oh! yes, your majesty,' responded the laughing hyena with a sidelong leer, 'but then you see, we know you're a lion!'"

CHILDREN BEAUTIFY CITY WITH TREES AND FLOWERS

Melrose Grammar School Has
Brigade of Yard-cleaners

MELROSE, March 16.—Hugo Lillenthal, the Berkeley landscape gardener, addressed 500 children in the Melrose Grammar School, last Friday afternoon, on "Scientific Horticulture." Many plants for out-of-doors planting were distributed to the pupils free. The Melrose branch of the Juvenile Horticultural Society recently organized by Mr. Lillenthal, has grown to a membership of 119 children with the hearty assistance of the principal, David Williams, and the teachers, Miss Marie Odgington, Miss Alma Morris and Miss Agnes Carey.

The children have shown great enthusiasm in horticultural work, and elected the following officers of the Melrose branch of the juvenile society: Kate Bendall, president; Fay Samuels, first vice president; Cecile Schoeninger, second vice president; Lucille Blatte, third vice president; Lu Vina Chapman, recording secretary; Violet Stewart, corresponding secretary; Frederick Turnbull, financial secretary; George Richard, herbarist; Ruby Holsted, assistant herbarist. The children were told how to clean their yards and are taking an active part in driving out rats. Lillenthal announced that all branches of the society would send out committees to inspect the yards of their members, and prizes will be awarded for the cleanest yards and for the most beautiful back yards, with vegetation of any kind. The children have entered into the competition earnestly and are planting trees, flowers, shrubbery and vegetables.

S.S.S. CURES CATARRH

Catarrh is not merely a disease of the mucous membranes and inner linings of the body as some of the symptoms would seem to indicate; it is a deep-seated blood disease, in which the entire circulation and the greater part of the system are involved. Like all other blood diseases, Catarrh comes from poisons and impurities accumulating in the circulation which irritate and inflame the tissues and mucous surfaces, and then the unpleasant symptoms of the disease are manifested. There is a ringing noise in the ears, a thin, watery discharge from the nostrils, filthy matter drops back into the throat, the breath has an offensive odor, and many other annoying and unpleasant symptoms are characteristic of the trouble. Sprays, washes, inhalations, etc., cannot reach the blood, and are therefore of no value for the temporary relief they afford. To cure Catarrh the blood must be purified. Nothing equals S. S. S. for this purpose; it goes down into the circulation, removes the catarrhal matter, purifies the blood and makes a lasting cure. When S. S. S. has removed the cause, the blood being pure and healthy nourishes the membranes and tissues instead of irritating them with noxious matter, and the symptoms all pass away. Book on Catarrh and any medical advice free.

BROOKLYN STAR HOT ON ATTELL'S TRAIL

TOMMY BURNS FIGHTS JEM ROCHE AT DUBLIN TOMORROW

BROOKLYN TOMMY SULLIVAN HERE LOOKING FOR FIGHT Manager Jack Sullivan Says He Will Bet Any Amount of Money on Tommy's Chances--Kelly-Papke Tonight.

(By EDDIE SMITH.) Brooklyn Tommy Sullivan, the red-topped firecracker from St. Louis, has arrived in California and is hot on the trail of Abe Attell, Owen Moran, Packy McFarland or Jimmy Britt. The little fellow who has the distinction of being the only man that has been able to make Attell take the count in all the long string of contests that the latter has had, looks to be in fine shape and is as lively as a cricket.

Sullivan has not come to the coast unprepared and is ready at a very short notice to step into the ring with any one he can get. Tommy is managed by Jack Sullivan, a well known newspaper man of St. Louis who stands ready to make any sort of a side bet that his fighter can beat any man in the world at 124 pounds.

Tommy has been preparing for his trip to San Francisco for the past few months at the Missouri Athletic Club, of which he was boxing instructor for years, and when he stepped off the train at the Oakland mole he was ready to enter the ring at ten days' notice.

Tommy is a rather quiet sort of a chap ordinarily, very gentlemanly, and one that it is a pleasure to meet. He lacks all the ostentation that is found to such a disgusting degree in the average professional athlete and withal is a very pleasant fellow to meet.

Sullivan Fierce Fighter.

When in the ring however, this fellow Sullivan is a regular Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, for his whole make-up seems to change and becomes anything but the quiet, good-mannered gentleman that one meets on the streets.

Sullivan is the sort of a fighter that has no love for an opponent while in the ring. The moment that the bell sends the pair to the center all friendship with him is buried and he is ready to take advantage of every possible chance to win. He is the aggressive sort of boxer that the public likes to see in action, and if he is successful in his first start he will no doubt make a great hit here.

When the boxing game was running at full blast in St. Louis Sullivan was the big thing as a drawing card, and the night that he is given credit for knocking Attell out, the town went wild over him.

Since that time Tommy has fought Attell a six-round draw at Alton, Ill., and he claims that the clippings that he has with him in his trunk will prove that he is the best of the going. Sullivan is not picking his opponents and will take anyone that he can get, although he says that owing to the showings that Attell has made here he considers him as the best card, and for that reason he would prefer to meet him again.

PHOENIX TEAM WILL MEET SEALS IN GAME TOMORROW

The Phoenix team of St. Mary's College, probably the greatest amateur baseball organization on the Pacific Coast, will meet the San Francisco Seals in San Francisco tomorrow afternoon. The game is scheduled for the Valencia street grounds at 3 o'clock. The Phoenix team, but have postponed their game with the Cardinal men until next Saturday.

Harry Krause, who is going to play with the Philadelphia Americans, will pitch for the Phoenix team.

The Oakland college boys will put their very best team in the field and they have hopes of making the fast Seals. The line-up: Krause, pitcher; Burns, catcher; Wallace, first base; Feeney, second base; Hallman, third base; Dugan, shortstop; Hart, right field; Dunn, left field; Garaboldi, center field.

Model Yacht Ruth Is Speediest Boat

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—The first race for the second of the series of Directors' cups was sailed yesterday by the fleet of the San Francisco Model Yacht Club on Sausalito lake in Golden Gate Park. The wind was rather fuky, but the large crowd of enthusiasts on hand enjoyed the day's sport. The race was won by Commodore J. E. Brannan's "Ruth." Only six models entered the competition and the Ruth was fortunate in drawing the bye in the semi-final.

In the first round Harry London's "Mischief" winner of many races, disposed of W. Hey's "Agnes." Little's new model, "Annie L," which had participated in but one race previously, made a splendid showing in his third race by beating "Ruth." The other first round race resulted in a victory for Commodore Brannan's "Ruth" over A. J. Oliver's "Altra," which was racing for the first time. In the final round "Mischief" disposed of "Annie L" and the bye went to "Ruth." This brought "Ruth" and "Mischief" together in the final and the Commodore's model turned the tables on her rival in hand. "Ruth" won the Directors' cup must be won twice by the same model before it goes into the permanent possession of the successful owner. "Mischief" gained two wins.

Golcher Defeats Old-Time Rival

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—H. C. Golcher and A. J. Owen played off the tie yesterday in the approaching and putting match on the course of the San Francisco Golf and Country Club Saturday. In the contest both made a score of 70 on the opening day. They met yesterday with the intention of holing out two balls to three holes, and Golcher proved the winner. The play-off match was a disappointing one, however. Golcher made the first hole in seven and Owen made it in eight. When they started the second hole Owen was unfortunate in topping both balls, and, as he considered that he had no further chance, he withdrew. Golcher won the match and returned the same score he did Saturday, 70.

Oakland Defeats San Diego Nine

SAN DIEGO, March 15.—The Oakland Coast League baseball club showed its true form yesterday when they won another game from San Diego by a score of 6 to 3.

The Oakland men have finally rounded some degree of form and they showed plenty of glint yesterday. Van's men worked like a lot of beavers, and they would have made the score one-sided had they cared to do so.

Amateur Notes

The Lubben baseball club defeated the Melrose team by a score of 9 to 2. Ad dress all challenges to A. Village, 1055 Thirtieth avenue, East Oakland, Cal.

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous, and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they make her feel like a different person. So they all say, and their husbands say so, too!

JAMES EDWARD BRITT, WHO MEETS PACKIE McFARLAND, CHICAGO'S GREAT FIGHTER, AT COFFROTH'S ARENA APRIL 11.

NOVICE BANKS WINS ROAD RACE FROM VETERAN RIDERS

F. Banks, a novice rider, performed the remarkable feat of winning the annual twenty-five mile run of the New Century Wheelmen, held on the Hayward triangle yesterday. Banks was allowed a ten minute handicap. The race was warmly contested from start to finish and Banks beat Sangalli, the second man, by only four seconds.

The prize for the best time went to W. Beller. He completed the course in one hour and eleven minutes and thirty-one seconds.

The roads were in good shape and the race was unmarred by accidents. The winner rode a well judged race and after overtaking the limit men, rode on, made his own pace and had something left at the finish. For such a long race the handicaps were well arranged and Captain Brannan deserves credit. The scratch men were rather harshly treated, but the young riders who were liberally handicapped, will no doubt be encouraged by their showing. Just six minutes and fifty-one second separated the first and last man to finish on actual riding time. The scratch men, Henry McWhirter and Carl Lave, rode good races, but they had no chance. They rode together throughout the course, and at the finish McWhirter passed Lave in the sprint and beat him by four seconds. McWhirter's showing was a disappointment, as he has been showing splendid form in the try-outs and was looked upon as the likely winner of the race. The following table shows the result of the race in detail:

Recruits Slaughter Los Angeles Nine

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—That the Los Angeles nine is not as strong this season as they were last year was amply demonstrated here yesterday when the Chicago Recruits, who were so easy for the San Francisco Seals, walloped the Angels in a slugfest by a score of 12 to 5. The Angels made seven errors, and the Recruits swatted the ball for seventeen safe hits.

Big Larry Le Juene, connected with one of Dolly Gray's specials, in the ninth inning hoisted the ball over the fence for a clean home run "tip." O'Neil found the going to his liking, securing three hits out of five times at bat. Anderson duplicated this feat with the maple, and Osteen, Le Juene, Purcell and Armbruster all came through with a pair of safe hits. In addition to the swiftest, the Chicago men, with one exception, played an errorless game. O'Neil was the only offender, being charged up with a misplay on a wild throw.

Albion Rovers Win Game From Thistles

In a clean and clever game of football the Albion Rovers took the measure of the Thistles at Freeman's Park yesterday afternoon by the score of 3 to 0. This entitles the Rovers to play the Vampires in the semi-finals for the competition cup. After the recent tie between these teams the spectators expected a hard struggle and in the early part of the game they were not disappointed. In the early part of the game the Thistles played with plenty of vim, but they were unable to overcome the stubborn defense of the Rovers. Duncanson and Scott had plenty of chances, but could not score. The Rovers were a disappointment, as they were unable to score in the first half. The second half was closely contested for half the distance, and then the Rovers scored a goal, Pettie putting the ball into the net with a shot from close to the goal. The point put the Albions on their mettle and they played like themselves afterwards. Only a few minutes had elapsed when the Rovers were awarded a free kick which McKinnon placed in the goal mouth. Smith tried to head it out, but diverted the ball into the net. Before the game ended another goal was scored from a long shot by McIntyre.

Wagner Refuses $15,000 Contract

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 16.—Hans Wagner has written to President Dreyfus of the Pittsburgh Baseball Club that he will not play ball again. The great first baseman told him that he cannot stand the terrible grind.

Pittsburgh needs Wagner greatly and the management recently sent him a contract and told him to sign at his own figure. Wagner, however, has returned the contract unsigned.

It is said that Dreyfus offered to give Wagner $15,000 for the season's play and allow him to cut out the spring practice. This is the best salary ever offered a baseball player, yet Wagner claims his physical condition is such that he cannot accept.

GOSSIP

Assistant Starter Joe Webber accompanied Starter Dick Dwyer to Arcadia.

Al Dobson, who is the California representative of the Western Canada Turf board, is in the city on business. He is expected to make a tour of the northern circuit. He goes to arrange for stable boys, special cranks and other accommodations for the California horsemen who will race in Canada the coming summer.

The hand played "Down Where the Weasels Flour" for the benefit of the Keweenaw when their horse which bears that name won the day's opener.

James McGill, a relative of the late Pittsburgh Phil, was a visitor at the track Saturday. He resides in Denver, where he has a palatial home.

Bookmaker Hugh Jones telegraphed from Arcadia to bet $500 on Big Bow before post time to take it off and place the bet on Livius.

The Denver meeting will be bigger than ever this season.

After having been set down for several days by Owner Matt Rice, "Cricket" Kelly resumed riding Saturday.

Bookmaker Joe Harlan donated $5000 to the Saturday crowd.

And Bookmaker Ed Soule $2000.

The summer meet at Windsor opens to their stable.

The following horses were sold recently in the paddock at Arcadia: Guard, $1000, to W. D. Millard, Allen Lea, $225, to K. Spencer; Annie Wells, $150, to F. A. Gerhardt; 55, to W. Gabriel; Banaja, $100, to McDowell Brothers; Two Bills, $75, to S. C. Allen.

Fuglist Jack O'Keefe, who hails from Chicago, mingled with the crowd Saturday.

Peter Stealing, Ed Trotter's big horse, made a creditable showing in the Glenwood Handicap Saturday. He has been on the sick list for the past three weeks. The son of Lord Esterling is rounding to nicely.

Owner Ed Trotter said Saturday that he has not made a bet since Sun Alvis hooked up with Roala.

Commence Herr Jacob Holtman will be on hand today.

Starter Dick Dwyer departed for Arcadia yesterday.

Thomas H. Williams, owner of Big Bow, the winner of the Thornton Stakes, presented Jockey Butwell with $500 for winning the stakes.

The thirty-four books that made the weight Saturday did a landlucce business.

Money Moss broke down so badly at Arcadia in his last start that it is doubtful if he ever again faces the barrier.

There will be racing at Salt Lake City this summer.

DANNY LONG'S PLAYERS DO FINEWORK AGAINST CHICAGO

San Francisco Nine Is the Classiest Team That City Has Had to Represent It in Recent Years.

By T. P. MAGILLIGAN.

Danny Long's young men proved themselves to be one grand ball team yesterday in their clever exhibitions against Charley Comiskey's great White Sox. In the morning Comiskey's men won the game rather handily, the final score being 10 to 3, but in the afternoon Long's young men came through and slipped the Chicago bunch one grand little kalsomning winning—3 to 0—over the world's champions, 1935.

It was not at either score that the writer looked, but at the mannerly way in which Long's men handled themselves, and Long is certainly deserving of some sound praise for the team he has gotten together.

Danny has got Williams to working like a house-a-fire and it was really delicious to see Nick play ball yesterday. The blonde terror jammed the ball around for two doubles and a single in the morning and he handled everything that came into his territory with the grace and ease of Hal Chase.

To the writer it looks as though Williams is going to make a big league team. In the morning Fielder Jones played a wretched eye on Nick and he was heard to remark, "That's the most stylish kid I've seen in many a year. He surely has a sweet swing at the horse hide, and I bet now he is better than many a big league first baseman. If I didn't have Jiggs Donahue and John Anderson I don't know any lad I'd rather pick up than that tall blonde kid. He'll be a big leaguer some day and I predict a brilliant baseball future for him."

Freeman's Park was taxed to its capacity in the morning.

Little Curtis at third base also demeaned himself with becoming baseball player in the morning. He is a natty fielder, has a fine arm and hits very well.

In the morning contest the Sox won easily. They hit Whitridge Hogg and Elfinan timely and scored without any great effort.

The afternoon contest was as pretty a game of baseball as any one could care to see. It was a thriller. Jones Skillman and Elfinan pitched nice ball and allowed the Seals to pile up runs. Long's team is the best looking outfit San Francisco has had in years, and Mr. Long may plume himself for the fine showing of his boys as they are all his own selection.

EX-PASTOR RELATES LIFE STORY TO JUSTIFY SIN

Outcast by His Own Act, but He Is Happy

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—Jere Knode Cooke, unfrocked pastor of St. George's Church of Hempstead, L. I., who, with Floretta Whaley, is now in this city, has told the story of his life and attempted justification of his relations with the girl with whom he eloped several months ago.

Cooke, whose hiding place in this city was made known two days ago through the telegraphic appeal for help sent to the grandmother of Floretta Whaley at Hempstead, has found new quarters. With him is Floretta and their child. They occupy rooms in a flat on the outskirts of the city. Cooke still goes under the name of "Balcolm" and works at his trade of painter and decorator.

Story of Life.

Cooke has written the following story of his life with his justification of his relations with the girl who eloped with him:

"To tell the story of my shame and wrong doing, to lay bare of the secrets which, though of sin, are as sacred, and, sometimes I believe, more than those of holiness and virtue, to tear aside the curtain of silence which has shielded the love of Floretta Whaley and myself for one happy year, is to me utterly abhorrent.

"Unwilling is the pen that does the undertaking. For a year my pen has been forced to run contrary to all the laws of God and man, and which has fought back every minute, every second, against the rules laid down by ten thousand years of convention, has become moulded that even now, as if by force of habit, it still struggles against the inevitable.

Led by Primal Laws.

"In bitterness and passion I seek the solution of the eternal and unanswerable query. Why should I give up my happiness? Why should she give up her happiness? The primal laws of love and life gave us to each other. Are life and happiness nothing more than one long sacrifice? I think not. It is only the weakness which tacitly surrenders and by sacrifice obtains a mild joy and calmness which he indolently accepts as happiness. The man of flesh and blood and heart takes for himself and fights back, and if what he takes is worth the combat, he will fight the whole world.

Damned but Happy.

"I attempt no justification of my act. I walked to mine own damnation with my eyes open. The church has damned me, the world has damned me, and damned I stand on the isolated peak of my love-happy. When I stooped to the mire of the pit I rose to the glory of the heights. I am not weak enough to attempt to justify myself in the eyes of the world, knowing the impossibility of such a procedure. The world has set out paths, and those who step from them as flagrantly and openly as I have done can never hope to regain the place in the line. That is lost. The ranks closed in and the world moved on.

Asks Where Happiness Lies.

"The question, however, is whether happiness lies in the beaten trail which the millions follow or in the forbidden land on either side. Each must ask the question for himself. I have answered mine by my act. On my deathbed I shall discover who is right and who is wrong—the millions or myself. There is no question in my mind as I write now and glance at Floretta Whaley sitting by me softly singing the song of motherhood to our child at her breast. Time might, as time has done, make many differences. On the future no man can speak.

"In telling the story of my life I write as a sinner to sinners. Those who are in a position to cast the first stone will find my attitude illogical, but my knowledge of the world has convinced me that by the majority I will be understood.

Kept Promise to Mother.

"My parents died when I was very young, but young as I was I remember distinctly my mother making me promise to enter the ministry. As I grew older the calling appealed to me more and more and I decided to enter the church. I was adopted by a man named Cooke, whom I look upon as an uncle, and attended the public schools. When I was sixteen years of age I was apprenticed to a painter and decorator, and there I learned the trade which I am now following. The little I earned I saved and eventually had enough to allow me to enter Yale. I had an uphill struggle then. I had to work my way through college and on graduating was appointed curate of a church in Baltimore.

"While there I met and married the woman the law calls my wife. There I made my first big mistake. Physical reasons forbade her marrying, and when, three days after our wedding, she coldly informed me that she had married me simply as a stepping stone to social success and that she saw in me one who was going to rise. I recognized the bitterness of my lot.

"Only ill-mated couples can understand my position as a husband. The laws of church and land may make marriages, but no law can make beautiful such an existence. Life with a mockery of love is hell. In those days, however, I believed in humanity and in the love of humans for humanity. I possessed the high and lofty ideals of youth and endeavored to find in my work what my home could not offer.

worked hard. I studied mankind from every conceivable standpoint. I studied sin, recognizing that if I was to be of any help to the sinner asking my aid I must first understand his position.

Horrorful Parishioners.

"The smug and prosaic church-goers whom I once openly told that I had visited the tenderloin in New York turned up their eyes in holy horror. To them such a step was inconceivable. They wanted to have me like themselves, smug, prosaic and 'respectable'—by all means respectable. I was to be entirely ignorant of the subject I was to combat. I was supposed to fight the flesh and the devil without knowledge of either.

"Since coming out of the sacerdotal world and viewing life from the standpoint of one of the masses I think I have begun to understand why it is that the church finds itself failing behind; why, in a Christian land, the overwhelming majority of its inhabitants do not attend a church from one year's end to another and in their innermost hearts scorn the men who are supposed to be the pastors and leaders.

"The physician is allowed to study all the horrors of disease; the lawyer must understand the baseness of the human mind; the man of business must be acquainted with the trickery of a dishonest rival; but the minister must be ignorant of sinners and their ways. He must lead his flock from the snares of sin and yet know less about sin than do those in his spiritual care. Should he dare to investigate, should he examine mankind for himself, he is damned on the spot. Lies and rumors assail him at every turn and the net result is that while some ministers of the Gospel know nothing of sin, others know far too much.

Position Pleases Wife.

"From Baltimore I was appointed pastor of St. George's Church in Hempstead, L. I. The position was a good one and one that highly pleased my wife. She had there an opportunity to further her social aims and it was in accord with my personal ambition to succeed. In a measure I did. I reorganized the church; bishops dined at my house; I spoke on the same platform as the President of the United States and I was promised the degree of doctor of divinity. Such things are alluring even to a minister, and the man who says he is not captivated by them is either a lofty soul or a common liar.

Meeting With Girl.

"As a pastor of St. George's I met Floretta Whaley. She was a mere child then and grew up under my eyes. I always regarded her as a child until one day I awoke to the fact that she was a woman, and that I loved her. At this stage I might say that, though sixteen years of age, Floretta Whaley was one of the type that matures early. Her orphan life and surroundings had made her remarkably precocious even as a child, and at eighteen she was in her womanhood. I say this in the face of the criticism heaped on me in regard to the eloping with one so young.

"Of course it would have been easy for me to have lived a double life and escaped trouble by forcing the girl on the streets. Such a course in the world would probably have been received with approval, but I differed from the ways of the world.

"I wish it to be remembered that at this time I was at the height of my success. The near future promised for me all the sacerdotal world had to offer. Like other men, I could have lived my dual existence and escaped detection and wandered down the road of life with a respectable skeleton in my cupboard, taking all the world had to offer. Instead, I threw aside everything and took the girl.

No Boast of Sacrifice.

"I do not boast of it as a sacrifice, but state it as a fact; and ask how many of my fellow sinners would have done this same under similar circumstances. I threw aside everything, name, fame, honors—all. I knew exactly what the payment would be. I knew the storm that would follow. I knew, I became a criminal; I knew it all, and I did it.

"Here in San Francisco I learned the difference between the East and the West. In the East I would have been stoned and put in jail; in the West people came to my aid to help me out. Men and women whom I had never met offered me money and one and all had the same saying: 'You have to make the best of a bad deal.'

"The West was willing to give me a chance, and should the necessity have arisen, I am confident there would have been dozens of men ready to help me, even out of the country. They understood that I had only one course to pursue and that was to stick to the mother of my child. I expected a hounding and instead I received nothing but kindness and offers.

"Such is my story. No worse, nor better than thousands of others. And now all I ask is to be allowed to live my life not as Jere Knode Cooke, unfrocked pastor of St. George's Church, but as Jere Balcolm, painter and decorator, who draws a week's wages for a week's work."

SHIP DRIVEN ON TO SOW AND PIGS REEF

WOODSHOLE, Mass., March 16.—The southwest gale of yesterday afternoon and last night bore heavily upon the steamer Silvia, which ran on Sow and Pigs reef Saturday and at dawn today the vessel had settled nearly to the upper deck, seemingly indicating that the greater portion of the bottom had been torn away. The wrecking outfit from New York reinforced by another tug and lighter, was alongside early today and the work of getting out such portion of the cargo as could be reached, was resumed.

REJECTED SUITOR KILLS WOMAN'S DAUGHTER

Killed by Police After Wounding Object of His Affections and Her Crippled Father.

SAN PEDRO, March 16.—Maddened by jealousy and furious because Mrs. A. Manes had rejected him, Gracie Elgueta, a lumber handler, last night started in on a saturnalia of murder, and was only checked by a bullet through his heart, fired by a policeman who was attracted by the sound of Elgueta's fusillade.

The love-mad man shot and fatally wounded 11-year-old Minnie Shackelford, twice shot her grandfather, James Shackelford, through both shoulders, and wounded Mrs. A. Manes.

Elgueta would undoubtedly have killed Mrs. Manes and her father and the Shackelford girl in a few minutes had it not been for the timely arrival of the police, as he had a box full of cartridges in reserve.

Blood-Thirsty Rampage.

Mrs. Manes, her daughter Margaret, and Minnie Shackelford had been seated in the front room of their cottage, the door being open. Suddenly Elgueta appeared in the doorway and opened fire on Mrs. Manes. He fired one shot before the woman ran to the window and jumped out.

The man then turned his gun on the woman's daughter, firing a shot which hit the little girl's left breast, passing clear through, piercing the right lung. He then fired two shots at Minnie Shackelford, the first shattering her left hand and the other passing through her right arm.

Elgueta then passed into the next room, where Minnie's grandfather, a cripple, was lying on the sofa.

He fired two shots at the old man, one taking effect in each shoulder. Policemen Inman and Logan, who had been attracted to the spot by the sound of the firing, pursued the fleeing man. The fugitive ran to the yard of his home, where he reloaded his revolver and opened fire upon the officers. They returned the shots and Elgueta fell dead, shot through the heart.

Did You Ever Stop To Think

Why You Feel Lazy, Moody and Tired?

We'll Tell You Why and Cure the Feeling.

The remedy is yours for the asking. Dyspepsia bars the way to your attaining success, wealth and influence by clogging the wheels of your health machine. Your work suffers, energy wanes, perseverance flags.

In this age of hurry and bustle, where concentrated energy is essential to success, where the strong man wins and the weakest goes to the wall—you owe it as a duty to yourself, your family, your friends, to keep that God-given health you were blessed with at the start.

Why not make a fresh beginning, and at the expenditure of only 50 cents in the purchase of a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, find anew the joy of "living," the joy of "working," the joy of "strife."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain the very elements which your stomach possesses when it was healthy—pepsin, diastase, golden-seal and others. By the action of these digestive ferments the dissolved food substances pass into the blood vessels and lymphatics, and so enter the general circulation.

Deprive the stomach of their assistance and your gastric juice becomes weak, you cannot enjoy your food, you have trouble in your stomach, after eating, you become moody, indolent, dissatisfied.

Remedy these defects by using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which assist nature by curing these ills. You need them to restore you to that active condition of body, mind and spirit which is the key to success, the road to wealth and the doorway of fame.

Sold at every drug store; price, 50 cents. We are so convinced that once used you will never be without them, that we will send you by mail, free, on receipt of your name and address, a sample package. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

FOREIGNERS AGREE

WITH HEARST IDEAS

NEW YORK, March 17.—The "Regenburger Morgenblatt," published at Regensburg, Bavaria, after quoting W. R. Hearst's speech of last October on American-German relations in full, says editorially:

"At a time when Germany and America are among those playing the first parts in the markets of the world; at a time, further, when the amicable relations between them are of the greatest importance to both these leading powers, such beautiful words advocating fraternity between the United States and Germany can only find the gladdest echo in the German people, which harbors the greatest sympathies for America, the land of the future."

DOCTOR THE SKIN

TO CURE THE SKIN

Scientific Study Proves Eczema Cannot Be Treated by Dosing the Stomach With Drugs.

Advanced medical science, after years of study and research, is now practically agreed that Eczema, psoriasis, salt rheum, and diseases of like nature are skin diseases—and cannot be cured by dosing the blood. The only successful treatment is the direct application of healing, soothing remedies to the skin.

"Doctor the Itch where the Itch is"—such is the common sense as well as scientifically correct conclusion. Oil of wintergreen compound with such other soothing vegetable remedies as glycerine and thymol in D. D. D. Prescription, is recognized as the specific. Physicians see D. D. D. Prescription freely in their practice. Dr. C. A. V. Hartleben, Washington, D. C., writes as follows:

"D. D. D. Prescription is medicinal, soothing and the effect is miraculous. God knows it saved me a deal of suffering. I recommend it to everyone I can."

This letter is only one of many testifying to the merits of this purely vegetable remedy. Copies of other letters may be seen at our store, Owl Drug Co., 1005 Broadway, New York City. Free treatise on cure and nutrition of the skin may be had on application.

THURSDAY, MARCH 19th FRIDAY, MARCH 20th

You Are Cordially Invited

The display will be the largest and most fascinating ever made in Oakland.

The imported models came from the same artists that design the headwear of royalty, and they are the most charming hats that Paris has sent over in many seasons.

The hats from New York are exact duplicates of those now being shown by the exclusive shops that cater to the smartest dressers of that metropolis.

The visions of loveliness that have been dreamed out in our own workrooms are simply entrancing—you won't surprise us in the least if you prefer them to the hats from Paris and New York.

You will find our prices as pleasing as our hats—this is one of the few stores that values growing business above exorbitant prices.
